In May 2015 Music SA and the Live Music Office undertook a census of live music in licensed premises in greater Adelaide, to take a snapshot of the state of play. Compiled by local DJ Luke Penman from Radio Adelaide and Music SA, data was gathered from venue websites and social media pages, gig guides such as 'Rip It Up' and 'Live at Your Local'. Further information was sourced through word of mouth, working the phones, as well as Music SA and industry contacts. The State Government's Music Development Office and the Live Music Office provided financial assistance for the project.

Key findings from the research are:

- 962 gigs were presented
- 157 venues hosted live music
- Hotels provided 769 gigs across 108 venues – (79.9% of gigs and 68.7% of venues)
- There were 17 gigs across 3 Entertainment Venues, 39 gigs in 8 Clubs, and 17 gigs in 6 Restaurants
- Only 1 small venue licence had live music, hosting 3 gigs across the month. (0.3% of gigs and 0.5% of venues) This category of liquor licence was introduced in 2012 to support the development of the live music sector in South Australia
- Gigs were 30% original and 70% covers
- Adelaide City provided the most live music
- Note that in May 2015 there were 5 weekends across the month
- 11 of the Special Circumstances Licences were Hotels

The project benefits include

- Short term, it captures what sort of music is presented in licensed premises in greater Adelaide and who presents it.
- Longer term, the project provides a baseline of the live music scene from which to evaluate the effectiveness of strategic policy delivery such as regulatory reform as well as to assist in determining funding priorities.

Disclaimer

The research was a best effort exercise to capture as many gigs as possible, but may not be conclusive as some venues may have been unintentionally overlooked. What this gives us is a very good indication of the state of play, and is the least of what happened during the month of May 2015.

“This was a really worthwhile exercise because it allows us to quantify what live music actually looks like on the ground, in economic terms. It shows the degree to which musicians are given an opportunity to professionally perform and audiences are given an opportunity to access live music. It also shows that venues are unquestionably continuing to support live music in this town. I'm hoping when we undertake the measure in a year's time we see an increase in the baseline metric due to the current unprecedented support across all levels of government and the private sector to generate more live music in a state full of life and spirit.”

Music SA General Manager Lisa Bishop

“I encourage Adelaide residents to have a look at the census findings and see if there's some live music happening near you. There are bands and musicians playing around who are as good as you will find anywhere.”

Live Music Office Policy Director John Wardle
